Bruce A. Cadenhead

Bruce Cadenhead is the Chief Actuary for Mercer's Global and US Wealth businesses. In this capacity he chairs Mercer's Actuarial Resource Network, which provides guidance and interpretation to consultants within the firm on professional standards and actuarial issues and policies. He also chairs Mercer's Global Actuarial Standards Committee, which coordinates actuarial practice globally. He is a frequent speaker at actuarial meetings on a variety of topics, including actuarial standards, the selection of actuarial assumptions and retirement plan design.

In his 33 years at Mercer, Bruce has had extensive experience consulting to employers on topics such as retirement plan design, retirement readiness, forecasting, risk transfer and other financial strategies, the structure and characteristics of pension obligations and multiple employer and multiemployer plans. He is also one of the main architects of Mercer's forecasting and asset liability modeling software.

Bruce was elected Phi Beta Kappa at Harvard University, where he earned a B.A. in applied mathematics with honors. He is a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries, a Member of the American Academy of Actuaries, a Fellow of the Conference of Consulting Actuaries and an Enrolled Actuary. He is the Chair of the American Academy of Actuaries' Pension Committee and is a member of the Academy's Board of Directors.
